An environmentalist at heart, works quietly with various NGO's and organizations to further his belief that we can live in a clean and green world without compromising the industrial and economic growth we so direly need. Environmental sustainability and progress can go hand in hand and not against each other.

An advocate of transparency and accountability as cornerstones of good governance. Every government agency is bestowed with a public trust and as such has the responsibility to disclose all transactions relevant to its operations. Furthermore, every public servant, whether appointed or elected, should be diligent, efficient and effective in carrying out their duties, with the conviction that public service is a public sacrifice.

A firm and steadfast supporter of President Rodrigo Roa Duterte's anti criminality and anti corruption drive, committed to see to it that these are well implemented in every sector of government in particular and ingrained in the Filipino culture in general.
